Subject: Ballot language

As council is aware, staff has been working on advancing the financing plan for the Community Center expansion and renovation project. In addition to state bonding, the city is pursuing a local option sales tax to fund the project.

As part of the financing planning process, the city will need a ballot question on the 2022 General Election ballot for residents to vote on whether or not they support the imposition of a sales and use tax to help fund the Community Center project. Staff has been working Rapp Strategies, bond counsel Taft Law, and City Attorney Justin Templin to draft the ballot language below and a resolution as they relate to the proposed sales and use tax election question.

Staff will be seeking direction during the June 20 work session regarding the proposed ballot language. Formal consideration of the ballot question is scheduled for the July 18 City Council meeting. It should be noted that formal consideration on July 18 will include a resolution that must be adopted by August 1 in order to stay on schedule for the November election.

Below is the question that has been drafted for the 2022 General Election ballot.

CITY QUESTION 1 (MAPLE GROVE)
